SON OF A GAMBOLIER.

I'm a rambling rake of poverty, from Tipperary Town I came;
Twas poverty compelled me first to go out in the rain.
In all sorts of weather, be it wet or be it drv,
I am bound to get my livelihood, or lay me down and die.

Chorus:

Come join my humble ditty, from Tipperary Town I steer, Like ev'ry honest tellow, I drinks my lager bier;
Like ev'ry jolly fellow, I take my whiskey clear;
I'm a rambling rake of poverty, and the son of a Gambolier,
The son of a, son of a, son of a, sor of a, son of a Gambolier,
The son of a, son of a, son of a, son of a, son of a Gambolier, Like ev'ry jolly fellow, I takes my whiskey clear,
I'm a rambling rake of poverty, and the son of a Gambolier.
I once was tall and handsome, and was so very neat
They thought I was too good to live-most good enough to eat;
But now $1^{1} \mathrm{~m}$ old, my coat is torn and poverty holds me fast,
And every girl turns up her nose as I go wand'ring past
Chorus-Come join, etc.
I'm a rambling wretch of poverty, from Tipperary Town I came; My coat T bought from an old Jew shop, way down in Maiden Lane;
My hat I got from a sailor lad, just eighteen years gone by, And my shoes I picked from an old dust heap which ev'ry one shunned but I.

Chorus-Come join, etc.

MeGILL STUDENTS' SONG.

When a Freshman I sought Old McGill's classic shade, O, McGill! Alma Mater, McGill!
I trembled with fear at the learning displayed, O, McGill! Alma Mater, McGill!
That I vow from thy precincts 1 nearly had flown, For each Don looked so wise in his treneher and gown, And each Freshman so green in a study so brown, O, McGill! Alma Mater, McGill!

In due time, behold me a bold Sophomore, Chorus-O, McGill! etc.
When I chaffed all the Freshmen who envied my lore, Chorus-O, McGill! ete.
Then I tried io forget that I'd e'er been a boy, But manhood came slowly my pride to annoy,
And I lounged through thy halls a great hobble-de-hoy :-Chorus-O, McGill! etc.

Next a Frunior, I learned for each undergrad,, Chorus-O, McGill! etc.
By hard work alone true success can be had, Chorus-O, McGill! etc.
So with ardour supreme I at last "buckled to,"
And the true sweets of learning came slearly in view,
And 1 quaffed the rich nectar that's furnished by you,-Chorus-O, McGill! etc.
Can I tell all the pride of my Senior year? Chorus-O, MeGill! etc.
How I dangled so long between hope and great fear? Chorus-0, McGill! etc.
But exams.'s soon all over, and shortly I see
That I've passed with due honor and gained my degree;
Then I say, as the fair sex look smiling on me, Chorus-O, McGill! Alma Mater, Farewell!
Here's a song for the Founder, who'll ne'er be forgot. Chorus-O, McGill! live forever, McGill!
Here's the Chani'lor and Gov'nors, the whole jolly lot. Chorus-O, McGill! Alma Mater, McGill!
Here's our good Bencfactors-benevolent el ves,
Here's the Deans and Professors and Old Grads, themselves,
Ana last but not least, here's our owon noble selves.-Chorus-(), McGill! Alma Mater, Farewell!

LEGEND OF THE RHINE.

The Rhine is gently flowing, the night is calm and still,
And purple grapes are growing on every vine-clad hill;
And yonder in the moonlight that stately form behold, With sword and regal mantle of purple and of gold.
'Tis Karl, the brave, the fearless, once Ruler of this land, Who swayed with wisdom peerless the sceptre of command, And now, as legends tell us, at night he leaves his tomb, To bless the purple clusters and breathe their rich perfume; But ere the dawn of morning the figure glides away And sinks again to slumber in his marble tomb at Aix. In memory of our hero, in honour of our vine, Let's drink to Karl, the Kaiser, a cup of Rhenish wine.

> LITORIA.

Our College is a jolly home; Swe-de-le-we-dum bum.
We love it still, where'er we roam, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum.
The very songs we used to sing, Swe-de-le.we tchuhirasa,
'Mid memory's echoes long shall ring Swe-de-le-we-dum bum.
Chorus:
Litoria! Litoria! Swe-de-le-we tchuhirasa,
Litoria! Litoria!
Swe-de-le-we-dum bum.

As freshmen first we come to McGill, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum. Examinations make us ill, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum.
But when we reach our Senior year, Swe-de-le-we tchuhirasa, Of such things we have lost our-fear, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum.

> Chorus-Litorial etc.

As Sophomores we have a task, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum.
'Tis best performed by torch and mask, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum. For subjects dead, the students weep; Swe-de-le-we tchuhirasa. And snatch them while the sextons sleep, Swe-de-le-we dum bum

> Chorus-Litoria! etc.

In Junior year we take our ease, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum. We smoke our pipes and sing our glees, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum When college life begins to swoon, Swe-de-le-we tchuhirasa. It drinks new life from the woodeu spoon, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum.

> Chorus-Litoria! etc.

In Senior year we act our parts, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum. In making love, and winning hearts, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum. The saddest tale we have to tell, Swe-de-le-we tchuhirasa, Is when we bid our friends farewell, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum.
Chorus-Litoria! etc.

And when into the world we come, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum.
We've made good friends and studied some; Swe-de-le-wedum bum.
And while the seasons' moons shall fill, Swe-de-le-we tchuhirasa. We'll love and reverence Old McGill, Swe-de-le-we-dum bum.

Chorus-Litorial etc.

SOLDIER'S FAREWELL.

How can 1 bear to leave thee, One parting kiss I give thee;
And then what e'er befalls me,
I go where honor calls me,
Farewell, farewell, my own true love.
Ne'er more may I behold thee, Or to this heart enfold thee;
With spear and pennon glancing, I see the foe advancing,
Farewell, farewell, my own true love.
I think of thee with longing, Think tholl, when tears are thronging,
What with my last faint sighing, l'll whisper soft while dying,
Farewell, farewell, my own true love.

ROYAL INSTITUTION.

> [FROM THE QUEBEC OFFICIAL GAZETTE.]

The following is the substance of a representation addressed by the Board of the Royal Institution to His Excellency Sir James Kempt, in answer to certain allegations against that body.
It commences by stating, that the Board of the Royal Instituton for the advancement of Learning in this Province, sensible of the importance of their not being allowed unjustly to suffer in public estimation, and aware, at the same time, that injurious and unfounded impressions have been propagated abroad respecting their principles and proceedings, and have found admission within the halls of Legislation-feel it incumbent upon them to approach His Excellency, in the desire to lay before him a simple statement of facts, and in the consciousness that such a statement is all the advantage which they can wish for, when appealing to a judge whose impartiality and candour are so well-known to the public at large and so fully appreciated by themselves.

The animadversions which have been passed upon the Board, amount, in brief to this- that their proceedings have been characterized by an exclusive spirit as it regards differences of Religious belief; that they are themselves in a great measure persons in charge of the interests of the Church of England, and that it has been their aim and study to render the interests of Education which constituted the direct and proper object of their duties, an engine to subserve their party views.

These are reflections of a grave description;-but they have been often cast and as often convincingly disproved, and as an answer to them in a general way, the Board have submitted to His Excellency the following extract from a Petition addressed to His Majesty in the year 1825.

EXTRACT.

"That however deeply your Majesty's Petitioners may de-
 " then " prey hat in all the " pioceedings connected with their Institution from first to " ast, they have never once, either individually or collec" tively, afforded the slightest ground for any suspicion or
" distrust of their designs.
"That if it so happens that that part of the Corporation of " the Royal Institution which consists of Ecclesiastics, is exclu-
"s sively Protestant, the failure of your Majesty's gracious
" intentions in this point, is in no way whatever, ascribable
" to your Majesty's Petitioners,-the Bishop of the Roman " Catholic Church in Canada, having, in the first instance,
" assigned as impediments to his acceptance of the trust, some
"s scruples of conscience which your Majesty's Petitioners
"" are perfectly ready to respect, but the effects of which they " esteem it some hardship to find visited by any other party " upon themselves.
"Thatif it also happen that amongst the Parish Schools which " are under the controul of the Royal Iastitution in this Pro" vince, and supported by the annual bounty of the Legisla-
${ }_{6}{ }^{6}$ ture, those in the Roman Catholic Parishes are reduced to "" a small number, which is still diminishing, and are falling
" off from a fiourishing condition,--the cause is to be found in " the operation of similar scruples in the minds of the Curés,
" who are known to be unfriendly to a connection with the
"I Institution and who have, one by one, declined the office
"" of visitors of the schools, which they have been invariably
"" requested, in due form, to accept, and which would have lance of the schools in their respective parishes.
"That, nevertheless, in this Institution which is affirmed " to be so constituted as to create jealousy and alarm among " Dice, before the recent death of the Hon. A. J. L.
" Duchesnay, whose successor has not yet been appointed,
" no less than seven Roman Catholic Members, among whon
" ${ }^{6}$ is the Speaker of the House of Assembly itself ex officio,
"6 and the late Speaker, who is still a Member of that House,
" of projected interference with Religion or indirect influence
"6 opon it, your Majesty's Petitioners have uniformly felt it
6 against the duty to guard, in the most scrupulous manner against the shadow of such a suspicion, and they challenge
" the most rigorous scrutiny that can be instituted upon the "" subject; -that they have refused the appointment to a "school in one of the Roman Catholic Parishes to a master " whose native tongue was French, upon the sole ground of " his being a Protestant, and that they committed exclu" sively to the Members who belong to the Roman Catholic " Church, the framing of the Regulations for the Schools of " that communion.
". That under all these circumstances Your Majesty's Pe"titioners humbly conceive it to be desirable that they "should be exonerated from all charge or controul of the Ro-
" man Catholic Schools-a charge which has exposed them
" only to unmerited odium and afforded to them no opportu" nity of usefulness:-a charge, however, in the execution
" of which they have faithfully done all that was in their "power."
" That they therefore pray Your Majesty to provide in
"such other manner as to your Royal Wisdom shall seem
" best, for the general superintendance of the Education of " your Majesty's Roman Catholic subjects in the country Pa" rishes, of this Provinice, and to extend your bounty for the " extrication of Your Majesty's Petitioners from the state of " embarassment and destitution in which they are placed."
To these statements which were laid before the Throne, the Board beg permission, with reference in particular, to a letter addressed by a private Clergyman in the country, then rece tly from Europe, to a Schoolmaster in the year 1823, and very lately produced as evidence of their disposition to render Education instrumental to Proselytism,-to add their assurance to His Excellency that this very letter was at the time proved to have been written without authority and under erroneous information wholly contrary to the facts of the case, and that mean of satisfaction were furnished upon this point, in the very quarter from which the charge has now proceeded. The proof that such a charge was unfounded had been lodged in the hands, which brought the document forward to support it-and the Board can only express their surprise and regret, that the author of the chatge could have retained his original impressions upon the subject.

An opportunity is here taken by those Members of the Board who happen to be Ecclesiastics of the Church of England, to declare that they are far from wishing it to be understood that they can for one moment be indifferent to the rights and interests of the Protestant Religion or to those of their own immediate Communion, but they have uniformly felt that, as Members of the Royal Institution they act in a distinct capacity, and in the discharge of a trust imposing obligations with which their own particular views should no otherwise mix themselves than asit is imperative upon them to provide for regulating the religious part of Education, among those who profess an adherence to their own Church. And they call upon those who are suspicious of their designs to produce a single example in which they have deviated from these principles, or endeavoured to exert the smaflest indirect or improper influence in the fulfilment of their public duty.

That His Excellency may better judge of the correctness and candour which have characterized the representations respecting their proceedings, the Board crave leave, in the first place, to refer to a paper annexed to their representations, [ which is also here subjoined, ] in which they state each specific accusation that has been publicly brought against them, (as far as they are informed,) with distinct and specific answers on each point; and they farther proceed to lay before His Excellency a few particular instances which may serve, among other proofs, to refute the principal charge against them,--that in the discharge of their public trust, they have shewn an exclusive spirit and an undue preference for the Established Church.
In the year 1824, they recommended to His Excellency's predecessor in the Government, the appointment of Mr. Norman McLeod, a Catechist of the Church of Scotland, to the charge of a School at Williamstown in the Seigniory of Beau-harnois,-a charge which he still holds; and in the year 1827, they procured in a similar way Mr. G. W. Bruce, a Minister of the Scotch Seceding Church, to be appointed to the School at New Longueil, and Mr. Gardener Bartlett, a Preacher of the Baptist Persuasion, to a School in the Township of Potton. In adverting to this part of the subject, the Board have mentioned the fact, as worthy of remark that no less than 16 Petitions to the Legislature praying that provision should be made for the continuance of the operations conducted by the Board, were recently sent down from the Eastern Townships, signed by 337 persons of all Religious Denominations who concur in stating their entire satisfaction with the management of the Schools, and their earnest desire that it may not pass into other hands.

The Board declare themselves to have felt these reflections the more,-first, because they are publicly stated to have proceeded from persons holding seats at the Board, and thence possessing the means of acquiring a correct knowledge of the facts, from whom, consequently, it might rather have been hoped that they would prevent or correct erroneous impressions, than suffer themselves to become instrumental in diffusing them ; and, secondly, because the Board are prepared to shew that through a series of difficulties and discouragements they have succeeded in effecting great and undeniable good, in the promotion of Education, chiefly among the inhabitants of the more newly established parts of the Province, who commanded the smallest means for effecting that important object themselves. They conclude by saying that "Throngh evil report and good report" they have held their even course, -correcting many abuses,--supplying many destitute Settle-ments,-rendering as diffusive as was practicable the resources placed at their disposal,-and progressively advancing in the confidence and respect of the people where their endeavours have been suffered to take effect.-And in this course, solong as they are enabled by the countenance of His Majesty's Government and the Provincial Legislature to proceed at all, -they assure His Excellency that, with the blessing of Providence, they will persevere to the last.

Allegations aguinst the Royal Institution.

1. "That for the purposes of Proselytism the Royal In"s stitution have attempted to force Protestant Schoolmasters " on the Roman Catholic parishes,"

Answer.-The Royal Institution have never sent protestant schoolmasters to the schoolsin the Canadian parishes, or where the majority of the children to be taught were of the Roman Catholic persuasion : but they have felt themselves perfectly justified in sending protestantschoolmasters to teach to places where there were a sufficient number of protestant children to form a school, although there might also be Roman Catholic children in those places: such instances however have been very rare ; and there are perhaps an equal number of cases where they havesent Roman Catholic masters to schools, where there was an intermixture of Protestant children. Out of the twelve schools in the Canadian and Roman Catholic parishes which fell under their snperintendance, there is not one to which they have appointed a Protestant master; if it be alleged, that they have sent Schoolmasters of the Church of England to schools where there were many children of dissenters, the Royal Institution aver that they have indifferently appointed Protestant masters to schools of this description, without considering of what particular persuasion they might be, and without regard to any other qualification or recommendation than their moral fitness and their attainments, and that in some instances they have actually appointed Dissenting Ministers as masters of these schools.
2. "That the Royal Institution have not allowed theinhabitants of the country any influence in the appointment of Masters, or of Trustees, or in the management of schools."

Answer.-The Royal Institution have always nominated as Trusteessuch persons as the inhabitants recommended, or where there was no such particular recommendation, the most respectable and influential among those who have api lied for the establishment of schools. In the nomination of Schoolmasters, it has been their rule to give a preference among candidates, to such as were recommended by the people, if otherswise well qualified; they have even in some cases appointed persons upon such recommendation alone, whom they did not consider as in all respects the fittest; and they have cancelled appointments of Schoolmasters, for no other reason than that they were not acceptable to the inhabitants.
44. "That they have required the Masters appointed by them to use in their schools the religious formularies of the Church of England."
Answer:-By one of the Standing Rules established by the Board, Schoolmasters are required, where there is no Church in the place, to read on Sundays to Protestant children only such portions of the Service of the Church of England as should be prescribed by the Board: it will be admitted, that in such remote situations as this rule has in view, some provision or the religious observance of the Sabbath is desirable ; that for this purpose the use of some formulary is better than to leave it to the discretion of the Schoolmaster, to pray or to preach whathe pleases ; and that it is only in the Church of England that such a formulary is to be found, containing prayers in which all christians may join, and a selection of parts and passages of Scriptrere suitable to all places and all understandings; but the Board have never rigidly acted upen this rule, nor have the Masters generally conformed to it, and the rule itself did not contemplate a compulsory attendance even of Protestant children, whose parents should on conscientious grounds object to it.
4. "That they have mismanaged the funds entrusted to them, that education has been retorded by them, and that they have done more harm than good."
Answer.-In 1819, when the Royal Instifution was incorporated, thirty-three schools which had been previously established by Giovernment, under the Aet of 1801, fell under their superintendance. Itappears by Returns laid before the House of Assembly in 1821, that the number of scholars in those schools did not exceed 1200, and that the salaries paid by the Province to the Schoolmasters amonnted to more than $£ 2000$, currency. Under the management of the Royal Institution, the number of schools has increased to 84, the number of scholars to upwards of 3700 , and yet by the economy which the Board have practised, no larger sum is drawn from the public chest for the support of these schools, than before
5. "That the Roard feeling at last their total inefficiency, have now sought the co-operation of the Roman Catholic Clergy, and Laity, after long struggles on the part of the Roman Catholics to obtain a share of influence in the education of their children."

Answer.-This allegation is attributed to a member of the Board, whoknows that the Board sought theco-operation of the Roman Catholic Bishop and Clergy, from the very commencement of their labors; but that having failed in obtaining it, they long ago manifested their desire to be relieved from thecharge of Roman Catholic schools; that, in consequence of this desire, he himself in 1823 , with the privity of several members of the Board, and of the Roman Catholic Bishop drew a Bill for establishing a separate corporation, consisting of the Roman Catholic Bishop and other members of the Roman Catholic Clergy & Laity,for the exclusive superintendance of Roman Catholic schools; that this Bill was submitted by the late Governor in Chief to His Majesty with a strong recommendation, that it should be adopted, which recommendation was rejected ; that in 1826, as soon as this rejection was known to the Board, they again sought the co-operation of the Roman Catholic Bishop and Clergy, by proposing to the Provincial Government an arrangement for the formation of a separate Roman Catholic Committee of the Board, and in promoting that arrangement, they have made every concession thathas been asked on the part of the Roman Catholics.
6. "It is further alleged, that the Royal Institution has lost the confidence of the country."
Answer.-As long as the Roman Catholic Clergy shall continue their opposition to the labours of the Board, or withhold their support, the Royal Institution must feel and admit that they cannot have the confidence of the Roman Catholic population, but that they enjoy the confidence and have secured the gratitude of the rest of the population of the country, is abundantly proved not only by the rapid increase of the number of schools under their superintendance and by the applications for new schools which they are constantly receiving from all parts of the country; but by the direct and unequivocal expression of that confidence and gratitude, in numerous Petitions which have been recently addressed to the Assembly, signed for the most part by Dissenters in the Townships, expressing their entire satisfaction with the measures of the Board, and deprecating as a publie injury any attempt to abridge their resources or labours.

HYMN TO APOLLO.

Written in the third century, B.C., discovered at Delphi in 1893 , the text restored by M. H. Weil, and the music transcribed by M. T. Reinach.

I will sing in praise of the glorious son of Zeus !
Who dwellest on the snowy peak of the hills,
Where in sacred oracles to mortal men,
Thou dost proclaim tidings prophetic from the divine tripodic seat.
Thou hast driven forth from his place the dragon who watched over the shrine,
And with thy darts hast forced him to hide far in the dark underwood.
Muses came from deeply wooded Helicon,
Beautiful fair-armed daughters, of the loud-singing god dwelling there;
Praising their noble kinsman, even Phoebus, with golden hair,
To the lyre, singing their songs.
He wavers over the twin-headed peak of Parnassus,
And he haunts the rocky places round about famous Delphi.
And Castalia's plentiful springs, full of waters deep and clear,
And presides over Delphi with its oracle true in prophecy.
Come then Attica's noble daughters, come,
Ye who dwell in Tritonis' plain, safe from death-dealing shaft;
Incense and sacrifice offering, Hephaestus kindles sacred fire,
Burning on the altar limbs of bulls,
While the smoke rises and reaches to Olympus;
And from the flute's powerful voice come forth melodious tones, spreading around,
And the lyre's golden notes join in the hymns, aiding in melody,
While, in a throng, Athens sends chosen bands unto the shrine.

A translation of the words sung at the Academy of Music, Montreal, February 19th and 20th, 1897.
