From the Regius Professor of Medicine, Oxford.

Dear Harvey C.,

Yes, of course I could come to the opening - only too glad! I shall be free after or before the Johns Hopkins celebration.

Spielmann writes to say that he has had as yet no word from you. I wish you would send him a line as to the pictures you have of Vesalius. I do hope that you have made up your mind to come over to the celebration and to give us a talk at our section of the Royal Society of Medicine. You will have a splendid audience, and we would all appreciate it very much.

Our Historical Section has done remarkably well, and we have induced Moore to come in, and he is to be our next President. The Council has just nominated me for the Presidency of the Royal Society of Medicine, but I have turned it down. I am too much tied up with London as it is.

I wish you could see the town and our garden just now. The whole place is a blaze of colour.

Sincerely yours,

WM OSLER

Love to the darlings, all.
