From the Regius Professor of Medicine, Oxford.

Dear Harvey C.,

I wish to goodness I could get over and spend the week with you, but I am afraid it is impossible at present.

I have had no word from the McGill unit, but I hear they are to leave at the end of this month. I am seeing Adami to-day at 3 O'clock. You must come here on your way back.

Did you bring over your Vesalius slides? If so, we could arrange a meeting. I have a great deal to talk about with you and am longing to see you.

Revere is fairly happy at Clevedon, but has not quite enough to do, as all the hospitals here have been very slack of late. Sue Chapin is here, and I am afraid she will want to go back with you.

Do not go to a hotel in London. Come directly to us. You could come directly from Folkestone to Oxford.

Sincerely yours,

WM. OSLER.
