DR. J. C. WILSON,

PHILADELPHIA February 9, 1925.

My dear Dr. Cushing:

Some time ago you were good enough to write me that when you had made copies of the two notes of Osler's which I sent you, you would return them to me. At your convenience, pray do so.

You asked me to send on some other letters which I have but if you are having copies placed in the library in connection with the various documents relating to Osler's life and career, this I fear I cannot do.

I have looked them over and find that they are of an extremely personal character and in more than one instance embody criticisms of individuals now living, a thing most unusual with Osler. Making them public would be a violation of confidence. You will, I am sure, appreciate my feeling in regard to this matter.

I am, with the kindest regards,

Yours sincerely,

J. C. Wilson
