

To Dr. Flick from Dr. Jacobs

Baltimore,
March 24, 1904.

Dear Dr. Flick:

I think by all means that the staff of the Phipps Institute should be invited to the meeting on Monday. If any men in the country ought to be invited they surely are entitled to an invitation. I am sending with this mail cards to those whose names you gave me; and to the other members of the staff whose names I have not, and whom you would like to have present, please ask them to come without having a card from me. We are all looking forward to seeing you on Monday.

Believe me

Very sincerely yours,

Henry Barton Jacobs.
