

Old Nicholson's arhythmomania - first evidence in the Little Staff Calendar, <sup>diff. calendar for last year</sup> also found W.O. for 1161.
Duties given day in the year. ~~calendar~~ with a column to check them off

CUS417/3.7

Dec. 25 m. Bodley close to readers
" close to be wound

Camera close to be wound

Boys time sheets for last week to be made ~~out~~ up.

Janitor's fee-books to be ~~initialed~~ initialed by Librarian

Refuge or boys to be sent in Overtime statements to be sent in and returned

Sutherland room to be cleaned

Old Ashmolean stairs and front areas to be cleaned

Camera accessions - lists to be copied at Bodley.

Copy a page

Macray's
W.O.s. copy of Annals of the Bodleian Library, Oxford 1596-~~1867~~<sup>1st</sup> ed. of 1668) there is much of Nicholson and his arhythmomania. W.O. for written in the fly leaf.

"This book goes to Bodley and do not wish anyone to print the Nicholson note at Heberden during this (20th) century, 5 XI '18"

Notes in Macray's Annals (1868).

In W.O.'s script. Nov. 8, 1910. Before the visitation to-day, and after the Latin speech in honour of Sir Thomas Bodley, the Curators and the V.C. met the President and Fellows of Magdalen College in the Picture Gallery where a portrait of Dr. Macray was presented to the Bodleian. Dr. Macray was present, a fine, hale-looking old man of 86 years. Warren, the President of Magdalen (Macray's College) made the presentation and referred to the long services of Dr. Macray who entered the Library in 1840 and retired in 1905. Dr. M. responded and referred to his life-long affection for the place and the happiness he had had in doing so much for its archives.

W. Osler.

Letter from Dr. C. B. Heberden of Brasenose College. CUS417/3.8