Dear "Jonah,"

.....

Sir William and I are down at the sea for a rest and little change. I think we both needed it badly. This is a lovely spot in South Devon & it is hard to realize about the war here. Dear old Oxford is busier than ever- such an enormous number of men training and flying. The hospital packed.

The Randolph Assembly Room is being used now. Briscoe has been turned into a ward for pensionees- most Oxfordshire men, I believe, who will be sent to their homes when fit. Dr. Fatcher has gone home. He had a splendid six months at the Canadian Hospital at Orpington. I fancy Baltimore will be glad to get him back-it seems almost bereft of doctors. ...

Sir William joins in all messages & to your wife as well.

Affectionally,
