

Answered

1028/57/236

CVS417/57.234

HAROLD FEIL, M.D.
609 OSBORN BUILDING
CLEVELAND

July 8, 1925.

My dear Lady Alder,
Oxford, England,

My dear Lady Alder:-

I recently have been reading Cusings' life of Sir William - what a splendid work it is. I regret exceedingly that I never had the good fortune to know Sir William I had hoped that I would be so privileged in the autumn of 1919. I was living in London at the time and attended the services at Christ Church - with Mr. E. T. Wood. Never have I felt so deeply on the passing of a friend - a universal friend - and I can never forget that solemn occasion. The closing chapter of Cusings' book I thought unusually fine - the atmosphere - the cold December day - the impersonal Anglican service - it could not have been better described - no all coming generations of physicians may know how fitting Sir William's last rites were conducted.

Isn't it splendid that General's untold may be able to receive inspiration & arranged from the living writings of Sir William.

With kindest regards,

I remain yours sincerely,

Abundant