My Dear Dr. Cushing: -

Pardon the presumption on my humble part, but I can not refrain from sending you a line of sincere appreciation for your "Life of Sir. William" - which I have just finished.

Of all the biographies which I have read this has, and will, be the greatest. Both in real enjoyment in the contemplation and actual stimulation in my every day problems of life.

After the plaudits of the multitude it is indeed gratifying to realize that by this work you have done so much to keep Osler alive - to the medical student and to the oncoming generations of doctors who might never have known him but who will continue now to share the stimulus which fell upon those who knew him so well.

The success of Osler's life was no less merited than your wonderful story of it. Both so well deserved.

With kindest regards.

Vincent J. O'Connor
