Dear Dr. Cushing;

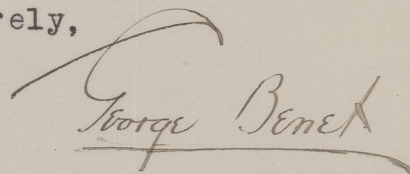

No doubt your mail is crowded with congratulatory letters, since the appearance of your life of Sir William Osler. However, as one of your students, let me thank you personally for the great pleasure you have given us all in this splendid work. It is a mystery how you found time for the enormous mass of detail work involved.

I had the great privilege of lunching with Sir William at the "Open Arms", and followed by a personally conducted tour of as much of Oxford as could be taken in during one afternoon. An experience to be remembered all my life, and one that gave me a very intimate interest in the second volume.

I hear regularly from Cutler. His success has been a source of great pride to me.

With kindest regards to my old friends, and again my thanks for your splendid work,

I am very sincerely,

George Benet
