Dear Harvey

Though somewhat late I want to congratulate you on "Sir William Osler".
The book was intensely interesting to me, for quite aside from the great central figure, your studies cover a period in medical evolution and many personages with whom I have had personal contact or knowledge. The story is well balanced and is a distinct contribution to medical history.

The literary quality is high and you ought to derive great satisfaction from your accomplishment in the art of writing. Your work well deserves its recent recognition by able critics and the honorarium is well bestowed.

Under the circumstances, as your friends know them, this is the most self-effacing piece of work that I have ever seen.

You have added one more reason for our esteem and affection

Here's how!!

Tom Hunt.
