Dear Rolleston,

I am better - no fever for a week, but the bronchial irritation continues, and every day I have a paroxysm of greater or less intensity. I believe it is whooping-cough! Yesterday I had no cough and was more comfortable. At 4.30 a.m. I woke in a paroxysm, which lasted for fifteen minutes.

A little impairment at right base - no râles and a moderate amount of tenacious sputa. Pneumococcus no. 3. M. catarrhalis present. The former I have carried for years.

I hear Wenckebach of Wien is coming to London to speak on conditions in Austria. He is, as you know, a Dutchman who succeeded V. Neusser in 1914. The Fellowship should ask him to speak. The invitation to visit England came from the Foreign Office (Ld. Robt. Cecil).

Love to Lady Rolleston.

Yours,

WM OSLER.
