Scraps from W.Os. pocket note-book.

7/302 Walnut Ja Shin
Lamb, Lucas' edition.

· Vaylonching oste prens on the out for Javol about Perue would both 1919.

Read when laid up with bronchitis.

- vol. 1. p.228. Religio Dramatici have copied.
 - " p. 25. On Borrowers of Books advantage of lending S.T.C. a book speaks of C. having amolded his Burton and Browne.
 - " p.69. On Dreams excellent. The D. soul tells the capacity of the waking soul. The old friend of C.L. who always asked 'young man, what sort of dreams have you?'
 - " 7p. 76 "The beautiful obliquities of the Religio Medici".
 - p. 88 "A brother of the and just such a free, hearty, honest companion as Mr. Isaac Walton would have chosen to go fishing with."
 - Detached thoughts on books "books which are no books biblia a biblia". L. gives a good list "and generally all those volumes which no gentleman's library should be without".
 - p. 212 Amicus redivitus? The procession of suicidal faces saved against their will from drowning, etc.
 - p. 249 The purchase of the Beaumont and Fletcher folios. Delicious bit which Revere loved.
 - p. 269 The inexplicable visage of Mrs. Conrady.
 - p. 322 Ref. to Des. Cat. of libr. of Chas. Lamb, Dibdin Club, N.Y. Five of Lamb's books with notes by S.T.C.
 - p. 27 New Years Eve. C.L. on Death.
 - vol.vi. p.212 Lamb's letter about Izaak Walton, not in Lucas' edition.
 - p.265 Gallus in old age.
 - 526 Refers to a Sonnet of Wordsworth on Iz. W.
 - vol.vii.p.641 Religio Tremato or Tremebundi "The Religion of a Quaker".