February 25: 1912.

Dear Sir,

My friend Stecher
D. Garrod tells me that you are anxious to obtain 1. an old manuscript of Avicenna's works 2. a modern edition of his poems 3. a photograph of his tomb.

With regard to 1. & 2.

22. PARK LANE
CROYDON

shall be very pleased to do my best to obtain the books for you - and will ask some of my native friends at Tehran to look out for ~~the~~ a really old copy of Avicenna's writings.
I understand that you are willing to pay for £20 - £30 for it.

As to the photograph I am able to send you two - for I was at Hamadan myself in the summer of 1910 - and got an excellent flash light photograph of the tomb inside the little mausoleum - as well as photographs of the outside of the latter.

I am not returning to Ishran until the autumn.
If you have therefore anything to add to what Dr. Harold has told me I shall be glad to hear it: it will be a pleasure to help you obtain what you wish for.

I am

Yours truly

Professor Wm. O. R. Milner Oxford.

P.S. I take it that the modern edition of the poems is the narrative character.
