CUS417/86.39 Jain Humbon 1890

County Balto is dead margather Lebecha Concidions. M. Jun Might Line 6 down by Soblews Jumbly. We browne devoted to him. Stry y Dury in the 1xt body. J.R.O.

Cheday M. hun joing was to Ohila to brass up armething The the between the Cops. and love. Just is the was leaving soul "Do dufor on my ale friends Philip typing Physicis and Shipper and quite my love."

The being a Calmar much furion, a condain of much known much him doubte was much his long. The terms of most known love. I would he terms bow take spend owned y low ophismon lyss. I will be he terms bow take spend owned y law ophismon lyss. I found then directors eine due mut level the food better lessing resymmed their their they have been dead on the deaders in they have been deaders and they have been dea

From Bull. of Johns Hopkins Hospt. Dec. 1910.

IN MEMORIAM.

DR. JOHN HEWETSON.

1867-1910

The men of the first few years of the existence of this hospital formed a very happy band - young and eager, with a great problem before them, too great, indeed, to be fully appreciated by us. It was a motley group that the gift of a new foundation in medicine had brought together, strangers to each other, strangers in a strange city; yet there was something in the air, and something in the spirit of the place that quickly ripened a mutual trust into good fellowship. The "lead" already given by that great triunvirate, Martin, Remsen and Welch, with Mr. Gilman's strong personality and intense interest in the hospital (whichhe had opened for the trustees) made the running comparatigely easy. It has often been remarked that the reputation of the Johns Hopkins Medical School has been made by its young men, to which I may note incidentally my shelves beer weighty testimony in the 12 volumes. with the 500 papers of the graduates of the school during the first 8 years. We were singularly fortunate in the senior assistants with whom the work began, Councilman, Lafleur, Brockway and Robb. I have forgotten how it was that Hafleur came to us from Montreal, probably through my friends Ross and MacDonnell, but it proved a very happy selection, and the "Dane" as we loved to call him, gave a certain cachet to the position, which his successors have been keen to appreciate. In the first year wehad for house physicians Toulmin from Philadelphia, Reese from Baltimore, and "Al" Scott from Philadelphia, all congenial spirits and enthusiastic workers. Reese was cut off by tuberculosis at the very outset of a brilliant career; while his many friends had to lament Scott's untimely death last year. As the work grew the following year Simon and Hoch came into the house. Then, in the summer of 1891, Thayer joined the staff, and in October succeeded Lafleur as first assistant. In (1890) there came to us, probably throughthe influence of Lafleur, John Hewetson from McGill, who had just finished a term of residence at the Montreal General Hospital. I have just had the sad news of his death, and wish to pay a brief tribute to his memory. Long practice has given me a fair control of my vaso-motors, but my grip has never been sure when a letter or some incident brought suddenly to my mind the tragedy of the life of "Jack" Hewetson. As I write there comes the far-away vision of a young face, frank and open, with the grey-lue yees that looked so true, and a voice to matck, with a merry laugh - no wonder that everyone loved him! happy years he lived with us, growing into a strong, earnest worker, and contributing with Dr Thayer an important momograph on malaria, and many minor papers. Frank Smith and Barker, who joined the staff about the same time, became his devoted friends. The controller, Mr Winder Emery, at once fell under his spell, and it was touching to see the affection with which the stern old martinet regarded the younger man. In 1894 Dr Hewetson went to Germany, and in Leipzig appeared the signs of pulmonary tuberculosis. He had had a pleurisy in Montreal, and the disease made rapid progress. He returned th California, where his father lived, and began to fight the long and losing battle which has just ended. Brave and cheefful. never repining, even in his broken hife, much happiness - happiness that comes with a devoted wife and fithful friends. We who loved him in those early days have never recovered from the tragedy of the wreck of a career of such peculiar promise.