at the Waldorf State ^{evidently written} New York, the Evening paper says: he says 'a text book six years old needs a very thorough revision . . . the present revision has been mostly revised without being moderately increased in size.'

~~#~~ He enumerates the sections which have been rewritten or are new, those members who we have given help especially Steiner, ~~and~~, Thomas and Barker in addition to those of his own staff. One at the end speaks of his obligations to Lumbrood 'of whom unluckily death left John Hopkins' Medical school has suffered a precious loss.' From this he turns to send ~~a note~~ this word to Steiner.
