My dear Grace,

My eyes are dim and I know I shall soon have to give up writing but I must say a good bye word of love to you and best wishes that you may have a very happy summer after a pleasant voyage across, it will do you and dear Willie a world of good, and I pray God you may return refreshed in body and mind by the change and rest. Revere I think will be happy spirit and returns with English roses on his dear cheeks. My love and many kisses to him - he will miss Mammy but she will more than miss him it will be worse than sea-sickness to be without him - I shall be frequently thinking of you all and do hope you will thoroughly enjoy the three or four months of holiday - few need it more.

Nellie will be writing, she has been very miserable for a week or ten days, but seems all right again. The weather was so cold and wet that it made many feel its influence a couple of fine days and now showery again.

B.B. and Lily are expected back from Kianonta to-morrow, he seems quite himself again - Hennie has been up there for a few days - Mrs McKenzie has arrived at Ethels but we have not seen her yet. We shall not see as much of them I expect as we usually do. Chattie writes that all are well she is too busy for us to hope to have her down for more than a day now and then by Boat, we shall be slack of visitors I fancy this summer.

With my best love to you and to the dear Revere I will say farewell and may God bless you and keep you safely on sea and land.

Ever dear Grace

Your loving Mother

E. OSLER.
