Baltimore, April 17th, 1901.

Dear Howell:

May 14th would not suit me, as I have to leave for Chicago at Midday. I do not think May 13th is a Medical Society night. If it is not that date would suit me. I think that they ought not to be given at the Assembly Room of the Hospital, but over in the Medical School, and I think if a little circular could be issued it might be well to invite a number of the men in the profession throughout the city.

Sincerely yours,
Wm Osler

Dear Dr. Howell: Can you recall what this possibly refers to?
& will you let me if you can on this sheet below?
