

Dear Garrod:-

CUS417/98.13

Futcher and I were very much interested in your paper, which is so complete and full and very suggestive. He will abstract it for the American Journal of the Medical Sciences. The family of his alcaptonuric case is quite large, and I have urged him to try and get samples of urine from all the members. The difficulty is that the two old gentlemen are a little sensitive about it. I had great difficulty in getting a sample from Marshall's original case. The pigment is very extraordinary, unlike anything I have ever seen. It is jet-black, and of course gives a very remarkable appearance to the conjunctivae and the face.

With best wishes for the New Year,

Sincerely yours,
