I am so delighted to hear that you will be in London on the 18th. I will arrange to have a formal invitation sent to you from the College of Physicians to the dinner. We can arrange later about your visit to Oxford. I should be very glad indeed if you could give us a lecture and demonstration at the Radcliffe Infirmary while you are here. I will ask Dr. Howard to let you know when he will reach Groningen. He and his sister are taking a little trip through Holland.
