May? April 9, 1908.

My dear Osler:

The Professor of Pathological Chemistry will not be required to teach so very much in each year. He probably will not have more than 150 hours of instruction altogether in the three years. He will have a demonstrator or he may have to train one for the purpose, but his duties will not be so very heavy and he will have plenty of time for research.

I shall probably go to England late in July and will attend the Dublin Meeting if I do. I have not made any programme yet.

With all best wishes, and kindest regards to Mrs. Osler,

Yours sincerely, you

A. B. Macallum
