Dear Mac:-

Impossible to call for manuscripts of VII so early. 'Twill rot and rust. If in by October 1st it would be time enough. They will never get IV, V, and VI out by January 1st.

I heard from Mrs. Gwyn that you were in Dundas. Thanks for enclosure. You do not say if the Day is fixed.

I hope to sail September 4th. All well here - such a late spring. We admitted a group of new fellows at the College on Thursday.

By the way, did I tell you of the Gordon Holmes - Jekyll and Hyde - episode? I had a MS. from Dr. Gordon Holmes very brief and shaky and I wondered. Then I had a letter from Gordon Holmes saying that his MS. was nearly ready. I concluded that he had gone crazy again. I had never quite got over his complete denial of having promised to write the article - as I had his letters! Then he wrote again complaining that the volumes had not reached him and suggesting that possibly they had gone to a Dr. Gordon Holmes in the north of London. This is the man we have been corresponding with. <sup>[This</sup> Mrs. N.] never looked up the initials - both are Gordon Holmes. I have written to the spurious one, who, by the way, is an aurist, saying that I shall be glad to pay him at the usual rate.

The invasion is in full swing. We shall have a roaring term from this on. Love to Welch and all the boys.

Yours ever,

W. O.

note. He did not say for some reason.
