

Sir Andrew Macphail

CUS 17/108.106

13, Norham Gardens, Oxford.

Nov. 1st, 09.

Dear Macphail:

Your book came the other day and I have been reading it over again with great interest. It is sure to do good, and you have singularly happy style. I do hope you will not give up political writing altogether, I am sure the country needs your pen. I am glad to hear that arrangements are being made about the Journal; I had not heard any details and whether the old Montreal Medical is to be absorbed.

Do let me know when you expect to arrive in London. I think you would find the Saville Club very satisfactory; I gave up my membership, but I am sure I could arrange to put you up for a month or so, and I think I could arrange to put you up at the Atheneum for a month or six weeks; the library there would be very useful.

Garlant's Hotel, Suffolk St., Pall Mall, is a nice quiet place, and very central, close to the Atheneum.

We shall be very glad indeed to see you here.

Sincerely yours,

W^m Osler.