Dear Mac:-

How fortunate that you should have caught your appendix in time! I take it that it is the appendix, we have only heard incidentally through Marjorie that you have had an operation and had it out. I expect you will make very rapid progress and be quite yourself in a few weeks.

Volume VII which I had a few days ago looks remarkably well, and in looking over the articles I think they are first class in every way. The index too is very satisfactory. I will send you before long details about the new edition, and get Appleton to send you interleaved sections. A great part of it could be rewritten with advantage; we would have the new edition ready by October 1912.

Nona arrived the day before yesterday looking very well. Love to Amy.

Sincerely yours,

Wm. Osler.
