Dearest Gwen

So glad of your nice long letter & to hear you are so well again. Be careful darling & do not over-tax your strength. Please be good to dear little Auntie, who is a saint, and remember she just saved that baby, when all had despaired. Of course it must sometimes be hard & worrying. Next winter I am sure it will be better to make other arrangements, but this summer let matters rest. Auntie should have her own little apartment & be comfortable in her old age. It is nice to hear that poor old Bea is better. She has had a hard time. The family is very set up with a baronetcy. I do not feel my head any bigger. I expect my purse will be emptier as I hear the fees associated with these titles are very steep. I cannot get accustomed to the change, & can never call Grace, Lady Osler. We are swamped with letters & telegrams - There have been nearly 1000 & all have to be acknowledged or a card sent. 'Tis a long job. Nona & Otilie are busy at it. My love to the darlings. Did you get a picture of me? Love to little auntie & to Bertram

Your loving old Doctor

The girls call me 'Sir Billy'
