Dear Boggs,

I hope Mary W. may return a bit better. She had an attack just before I left Oxford slight fever again & pains - no more erythema. I am worried about those ephemeral painful spots which are so like those which occur in chronic Endocarditis. On the whole tho. She has been better - but I am afraid her cardiac reserve is not as great as it was a few years ago. The other day she came in to tea & there was a decided mitral tinge on cheeks & lips, wh. I did not like

So glad to hear you are to get into your new Hospital. It will be a great opportunity. I have been worrying over this whole-time clinical problem - dead against it in the best interests of the school. To breed a caste of clinicians out of touch with the profession & the public would be ruinous. I am sending an open letter to the President & the family, on the subject.

Digbys Observations (separate copy) is very rare - not uncommon bound with the 1643 Religio.

Campbell Howard came here about 10 days ago & just succumbed to a black eyed lassie, Otilie Wright - a darling of my heart - so we are very happy. Mrs Osler sends love.

Yours ever

W O
