(To Mr. Henry Phipps)

From the Regius Professor of Medicine, Oxford.

25th April, 1912.

Dear Mr. Phipps,

I have just returned from the Tuberculosis Congress in Rome, where I met a great many interesting men and heard a number of valuable papers. I was very glad indeed to have your introduction to Dr. Gerald Webb who is a very keen, intelligent fellow.

I find here a letter from Professor Meyer, who is greatly interested in your suggestion of asking a number of the leading European specialists to participate in the opening of the Phipps Psychological Institute, and discussing names. I also find your letter of April 12th about the date. There is no hurry in settling I should think. I am going out to give lectures at Yale in October, and I should, of course, like to kill two birds with one stone if possible. Let us know please when you are coming over. It will be a great pleasure to see you here again.

Sincerely yours,

Wm. Osler.
