

(Letter to Adolf Meyer)

1st May, 1912

From the Regius Professor of Medicine, Oxford.

Dear Meyer,

I am glad you felt that the opening should not take place until the Clinic is in order, and I dare say late next Spring it would be far enough advanced. I suppose it would be quite possible to arrange the course so that the man could take your clinics, and I am sure they will be attractive to a great many practitioners in the town. The outlook is fascinating, and I am sure you will have your plans so far advanced next Fall that we could have a good chat about them.

I wish we could have seen you here in England.

Sincerely yours,

WM. OSLER.

P.S.(handwriting )

I have just gotten back from a delightful jaunt in

? (Italy?)