Dear Campbell:

At the moment I am a little in doubt as to my coming out this October. I am asking the President of Yale to allow me to postpone the Silliman Lectures until the spring. The truth is I have been so occupied with the revision of my Text-book, and the proof-reading, that I have not got on as far as I should with the preparation of the lectures.

We are off to Scotland (Tongue) early in August, where we hope to find the fishing as good as reported. You will have a copy of the Text book within a few weeks.

Love to lassie.

Affectionately yours,

W.O.

Your scurvy paper just here, ^{is} very good. Wish I could have made a reference to it. Love to the darling. Ol is splendid that she keeps so well. I am sure you will have a happy summer at Murry Bay. I wish we were to be there.
