Dear Stokes,

I am afraid the autumn of 1913 would be impossible for me. We have the International Medical Congress in London in August. I am the President of the medical side and after the efforts in connection with that, expect to be in a condition of cerebral exhaustion. It would be a great pleasure of course to be present at the centennial of the Medical School, but it would be very much more convenient for me to come in April. I see Easter is very early next year, so that I could settle upon the third or fourth week, preferably the third, beginning my lectures, say about the 20th.

I am delighted to hear that the child is better, and particularly to know that the X-ray picture looks practically normal. This is most gratifying.

Sincerely yours,
