

Autobiographical notes. 1913.1913.

Sat. Ap. 5. Sailed N.Y. on the 'Campania'. Good voyage with Mott, McDougall, and Helen Mott.
 Sun. Ap. 13. Landed 8 a.m. R.B. and Mabel met me.
 Mon. Ap. 14. Dinner Philadelphia. Dr. Mitchell's.
 Tues. Ap. 15. Baltimore.
 Wed. Ap. 16. Address ^{Phipps} Opening of Fifth Institute. Dinner eve.
 Th. Ap. 17. Dinner Mrs. Meyer. Eve mtg Osler Hall.
 Fr. Ap. 18. Dinner Futcher's.
 Sat. Ap. 19. To Yale.
 Sun. Ap. 20. Address eve Yale students "A Way of Life".
 Mon. Ap. 21. Lect. Dinner? (illeg.) ^{Mattelson?}
 Tu. 22. " Dinner Elizabethen Club.
 Wed. 23. " " Faculty.
 Th. 24. Billinge's memorial. Mtg N.Y. Co. Med. Soc.
 Fr. 25. Oxford Press Lect. ^(over)
 Sat. 26. Lect.
 Sun. 27. Ensigns - Simsbury and Hartford.
 Mon. 28. Last lect. Dinner Hadley.
 Tu. 29. Boston. Lect. at Harvard.
 Wed. 30. Lect. Op. of Brigham Hosp. Kate's dinner.
 Th. 31. N.Y. Bibliog. Soc. and Grolier Club.
 Fr. May. 2 - 3. Mabel's.
 Sun. " 4. Phila. Mrs. Cassell(?)
 Mond. 5. Washington dinner and mtg Lib. Med. Ass.
 Tu. 6. ditto.
 Wed. 7. Balt. Address to nurses.
 Th. 8. Buffalo.
 Fr. 9. Hamilton and Dundas.
 Sat. 10-11. Toronto.
 Mon. 12. Belleville to see Ned Milburn.
 Tu. 13. Montreal. Dinner of Med. Soc.
 Wed. 14. Mont.
 Th. 15. Sailed 'Empress Britain' cab. 127 from Quebec.
 Fr. May 23. Oxford 3.45. Good trip - clear and cold.
 Wed. May 28. Magdalen College.^x x When the Prince of Wales came to Oxford in October last year, the President of Magdalen sent word that they had instructions to place him in my care. He remained very well through the winter but in April had an attack of influenza. I was away in America, and Collier was called in. I saw him to-day as he had had some circulatory symptoms. He is a small, delicately-built lad of 19, with good colour, but very thin, weighing only 7 st. 8 lbs. The muscles firm, superficial glands a little large, pulse only 48 but regular. It has been only 36 and heart's action regular, sounds clear, nothing in abdomen, lungs clear. Blood pressure 89. V.m. reflex anaemic. Knee jerks difficult to get. He is a bit nervous and apprehensive and worried that his father and mother should think that he does not eat enough and does not try to get fat. The probability is that he will always be undersized, but he is developing mentally and takes an interest in his work. He does not impress me as a very strong organism. W.O.

(G.R.O. tells me that the boy was always extremely active, engaged in cross-country runs, but was always thin and peaky, and hated to be fussed over. On the insistence of the K. and Q. Collier had prescribed milk for him which apparently he had been taking, but he hated it and confessed to W.O. that he always poured it in the w.c.)

- Sun. July 13-5. London.
- Tu. Aug. 5 - 9, International and Med. Cong., Brown's hotel, Lond.
- Wed. 6. Dinner to 197 to Med. Sect. at Roy. Aut. Club.
- Wed. 13. Went North to Lochinvar, Cularg hotel.
- Mon. Sep. 1. Glencowe with Strathcona.
- Sun. 7. Home 8 a.m. Sunday.
- Wed. Oct. 22. Cons. Prince of Wales Magdalen. x x I saw the Prince of Wales to-day at the request of Mr. Hansell, his tutor, who had a message from the King asking me to look him over again. He has had a good summer in Germany but has not gained much in weight - only now with clothes 8 st. He looks well, but is very thin. He takes a great deal of exercise and in Scotland could tire the Gillies stocking. At home they fuss and worry about his being so thin and this distresses him. He is not so nervous and has been less depressed. He has promised to take milk and malt. The truth is he is undersized and ill developed and can never be expected to be much of a man physically. He is happy at Magdalen, and should do well if he is not fussed into a state of depression. The poor lad feels that he is not up to much and this re-acts upon him injuriously.

- Fr. Nov. 14. Cold - slight. In bed.
- Sat. 15. Children's Clinic Club here from London.
- Wed. 19. Sheffield.
- Dec. 2 - 4. London.
- Sun. Dec. 7-9. Laid up. Pâté at Carter's dinner x x This is the second time I have been knocked up with acute poisoning after eating pâté de foie gras, and only a bit the size of my thumb. The other occasion was in Paris after a dinner at Landouzy's.

Which by the way he had sent for via Wenzelbach.

JOT.