

W.D. to W.G. Macallum

From the Regius Professor of Medicine, Oxford.

5, Jan. 1913.

Dear Mac.,

Do not bother; I will order the Fratri from Rome. I am very anxious to get everything possible relating to Malpidhi.

Have you ever done anything more on the nephritis of those remarkable purpura cases, of which I have three at present under observation - one of extraordinary interest has lasted now for six months? One peculiarity appears to be the very large amount of albumen, with very few tube casts.

We are all well and have had a very busy Christmas.

With greetings to your father,

Sincerely yours,