

Oxford,

28th June, 1913.

Dear Jacobs;

I send you today the Rabelais to Newport, and the Rev. G. C. Jenner's "Evidence at Large..." 1803 goes to Mount Vernon Place. Smith's Rabelais is reputed to be the best modern translation.

I hope Mrs. Jacobs is keeping well. Grace got back from Harrogate this week very much better, but her wrist is still a little stiff. We are very busy trying to get ready for the International Congress.

Love to you both,

Ever yours,

Wm. Osler.
