From the Regius Prof. of Med. Oxford.

To Sir John MacAlister.

Letter (Typewritten).

4, November, 1914.

Dear MacAlister,

Those notes on books will be interesting. They will bring grist to the Library and also be helpful. I have already learnt something from them "geriatrics"! It would be most appropriate to make me the first professor of the subject. It would be nice to have a new section, to which only members over 70 should be admitted!

Sincerely yours,

Wm. Osler.

P.S. I hate to promise an occasional note, because I find that the very fact of promising anything now seems to paralyse the performance.
