

(Letter to Dr. J. William White)

Oxford

6, November, 1914.

Dear J. William,

Three thousand and one dollars is a fine substantial sum to stand to your credit on our list, and the Committee is proportionately grateful! The Principal of Brasenose, who is the Chairman, to whom I read your letters, is always immensely pleased with your final sentence. Do let me have a list of your subscribers, as Grace or I would write to each one of them.

We are gradually getting the poor people very comfortably settled, but it has been a very heavy job, and it is not simply a question of housing. Some of the families have been in Belgium very well off, and it has not been an easy matter to deal with them. Fortunately, young Mrs. Max-Müller, our Secretary, is a trump.

With many thanks!

Love to Mrs. White.

Sincerely yours,

W^m Osler
