

No. 130
(Letter to Dr. C.N.B.Camac)
(typewritten)

CUS417/118.103
6, November, 1914

From the Regius Professor of Medicine, Oxford.

Dear Camac?

Of course, the difficulty is to get a birth that would be at all suitable. I will, of course, bear it in mind.

I have been trying to get the Government to undertake a systematic study and collection of experiences of the war, but the officials of the Army Medical Department are terribly overworked.

Things are gradually getting into good shape, and the ambulance work at the front has improved enormously. The outlook, too, is much more hopeful.

Love to Mrs. Camac and the girls from us both.

Sincerely yours,

WM OSLER
