

(From Secretary's notebook)

(To Sir Geo. Newman)

December 17th, 1914.

Dear Newman,

Your report is full of interest. The section on heart lesions in children is of great value. I am glad you called attention to that paper of Mackenzie's as practitioners are altogether too ready to assume serious heart lesions to be indicated by a systolic murmur. The position of the apex beat is worth everything else.

I am glad you called attention to the bronchi. The tuberculosis report is also most interesting.
