Dear J. William,

You must indeed have your hands full, and it is awfully good of you to have taken such an active share in this anti-Teutonic propaganda. I have not yet had any word about the translations of the Primer, but I sent instructions to Gowers to forward you the earliest possible copies.

I am sure they will be delighted to have you in Paris. Robert Bacon was here last Saturday and gave a very good account of the work.

I shall go over for a short time with the McGill unit. Revere is to be Colonel Birkett's orderly officer. Meanwhile, he is struggling with work at the new Clevedon Hospital, and seems very happy.

Love to Mrs. White.

Sincerely yours,

W^m Osler
