Dear Garrison:

The case of the Eliz. touch <sup>piece</sup> was held up, but I am sending it through the Embassy. 'Tis a gem.

n/ Rogers Buccomachie goes today. I see the word is not in the Index - nor has Rabelais it in his list of <sup>Magic</sup> arts. R. must have invented it. I will write to Kirke who is an old friend. I shall be keenly interested in the new edition. What a labor it must have been! I have been laid up for a few weeks with bronchitis - all right again now. Have been too much bedevilled for any steady work. Thank Klebs for his incunabula list. I will write to him. I am still struggling with my paper. I am getting my library into shape. I wish I could borrow you for a few weeks. Best wishes for 1917 to you and all my good friends in the Library.

Yours ever,

Wm. Osler

n/ P. S. The boy is in the Aucre - hard at it in the artillery, so we are very anxious.
