Dear Sir;-

I have made further inquiries of my friends, the Maguires, as to the whereabouts of the Jenner pictures. They think it was sold about the year 1862 & they know nothing of it since. If I can glean anything more, I will let you know.

There is a better specimen of T. H. Maguire's work for sale. An oil painting of "Robert Raikes & the first Sunday School." Would this interest your friend?

En revanche, could you tell me anything about the value of the pictures of J. Radford? I have his "Coast Scene near Boulogne" exhibited at Suffolk St. in 1842. It belonged to my late father for many years, but I cannot find any one who knows much about Radford, or where there is another picture of his. He was a prolific artist.

By the way, may I ask whether you are related to my old schoolfellow, R.S.Osler?

Yours faithfully,

Benj. Whitehead.
