Dearest Gwen

So glad to have your letter, & to have such good news of the family. How splendid of you to go to work in this way! I enclose cheque for $100 for holiday for you Auntie & the darlings. We are all well - worried of course all the time about Revere, but so far he keeps well. He was home for 10 days looking like a fighting cock. Jim was here for 3 days, such a splendid looking soldier we were all so proud of him, tell Auntie. May is well, She has been here lately. Her reputation as a poetess grows - yesterday at a Canadian celebration in London one of them was recited. I am in fine form again, but very busy.

Tell Bertram to let me know when the $1000 mor(t)gage is to be paid, and the other - so that I can put by to meet them. I should so like to see the house free, as it would be a great help. May talks of the children all the time. I wish I could see them, Love to Bea, to whom I shall write soon Keep an eye on little Auntie & not let her work too hard

Your loving

Old Doctor
