

From Dr. Malloch's Journal
Wednesday, Jan. 23, 1918.

W.O. looks better I think; has all his Harvey cards ready; loves to tell what a scamp he was in his youth - blocking up stove pipe in school, and unscrewing all the desks and seats, hiding them, and on Monday morning the teacher found the place empty - he was expelled.

Probably in village school. They hauled the desks up through a transept in the forest - hardest work possible. Maria Emma used to get him to tell her about his "wickedness"
