Dear Father

Received today
your kind and very kind letter and am very glad to hear of your continued welfare. I
printed yesterday a paper with my inaugural address, which came off very well. The audience being very large and respectable. I expect my lectures for next Thursday week, and hope to have a good crop. We are now rather comfortable, though much remains to be done in the house.

It is well to think of timely seed; it cuts here 17/6 to 20/1, except for inferior qualities. I have not yet received the last parcel of Arabian Seaboard. He wishes to know of what value they would be.

About money matters
I shall not need anything the the sum for mention. Out of the ever I can draw any July before 3 months, which I do not think likely,

It will be necessary unless I draw on Margaret's money to have about £50
more this autumn; as after paying for furniture, stones, wood, iron paper, Kaklen utensils and the Household etc etc etc

of house-keeping in this climate, I shall have only a very few pounds
left for current expenses.
