James Dawson Esq

Dear Sir,

I have received yours of the 3rd and notice your quotation from Mr Metherson's letter. I wrote you truly what he said, and did, at the time. I care not what he writes. He is a strange man. His two notes say

1 of £ 150 having 294 Dy. to run	£ 142.15.0
1 of £ 150 do 659 " "	133.15.0
Nett proceeds at your credit £ 276.10.0

Mr Forman charged 4% on the £100 just remitted you. I shall ask him to send you £220 Sterling Exchange, trusting you can do better with that. I will try to sell the shares in the Union Bank. The plan of your property will be useful to show applicants the boundaries. I do not want more property myself - would rather sell than buy.

I shall write Mr Forman today to send you the Stg Exchange.

Yours Truly
James Pirrrose
