

For William
1909 - Spring Saturday

My Dear Lois

Please don't cut my acquaintance
It would make a good deal of difference
if I did not have somebody nice to think about.

I'm glad the cover is nice and I hope it will be successful.

That's a nice, delicate, pink-coloured way of you have of calling me a lobster. It's easy to see that Con has been at home lately. That's his favourite expression I think.

Still dreams go by opposites;
therefore I'm not a lobster. Q.E.D.

Poor old Pie! It was a shame

to send you that time(?)

Did it I tell you about Dr. Geuffell?
Why that was the greatest event in modern history.

He came here and spoke at the Can. Club Suncheon and at the Auditorium in the evening; and said several flattering things about my noble self.

I had lunch with him, then a walk &
a talk then tea and afterwards strolled
in many shekels after the lecture.

Next day I heard him in Port Arthur
and had supper with him afterwards.

Always being entertained by Priests & Deacons" I got up a large name as a missionary and have since been taxed unmercifully.

I have just written a letter to Mother.
I'm sorry we are not going to have our last year's cottage.

It seems to have been rather a mean trick they handed out to us.

I think some day I'd like to wring Wilfred Bovey's neck -
just on principle.

Do you think if I wrote to the "Star" that they would be able to tell me where North Hatley is?

I'll have to do something like that or I may land up at the wrong place.

Such a lot of ~~subbs~~ rubbish
I suppose I'd better shut up.

Mother sent me some Easter-Eggs.
and I broke my Lenten fast, - quickly I mean.

All sorts of Love & Best wishes from Yours truly, Edward
I'm feelin' real divilish
