My darling Lois

Last evening, if I had written, it would have been to say I was desolate without you - that my loneliness was so horrible that I must go home. Its wonderful "what a difference just a few hours make." Tonight, thanks to a pleasant couple of trips and thanks especially to a mighty good meal, I feel as if a child could play with me.

Nevertheless there's a wonderful moon, and, with a few blankets I could roll you up and we'd have one of those evenings when I feel supremely happy and at peace with everything and everybody just because I love you and can't think of anything but happiness.<sup>2</sup>

I stop at St. Irene in a few minutes having just left Murray Bay at seven o'clock. Earlier in the day I left Baie St. Paul and earlier still I had a drive and a walk out along the beach. We are entirely dependant on catching the low tide in order to get anywhere.

Will be home Saturday

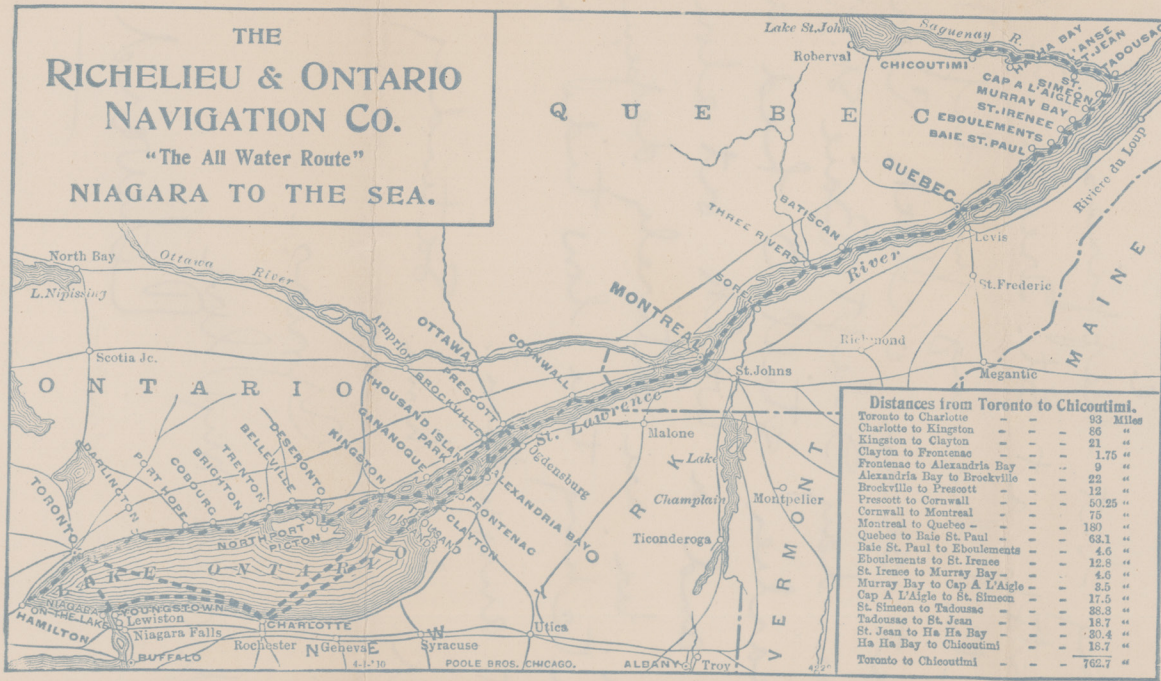

Yours.

With all my love

Edward
