My dearest Lois

Bruce Clegg met Mr Griffith and me at the dock yesterday at two thirty and we drove in a taxi first to Griffith's hotel and then to the "Vancouver" where I am staying. During the afternoon Messrs Deitrich and Crocker and a brother-in-law of Mr Deitrich came in and paid us a call. We had dinner and then I was initiated into a new game of billiards playing with 5 balls of various colours which had to be played into certain definite pockets and if you put them in a different pocket you were penalized. Needless to say I found it rather difficult the first time. We were playing at the University Club. This morning I slept in and Clegg is calling for me presently and we will have lunch. Tomorrow is a public holiday but it is possible that I may find it possible to go to Britannia thereby saving a day.

Clegg has just come in so I shall have to stop. The weather here is warm and beautiful and I think we will get a motor and treat ourselves to a nice drive this afternoon.

With best love to you and the babies.

Yours affecly,
Edward
