To / My dear Lois

This is a very tiny gift put into a very big box because my efforts at making it into a neat package have been a dismal failure.

You told me that if I would get you a few flowers and some little gift and would include a few stray dollars as I did last year that you would be happy and would go out and get the odd thing that your soul desires. So I'm taking you at your word and I hope you will be as happy as all your wonderful preparations merit. I think your arrangements have gone wonderfully. I am sorry you have done so much because I think you overdo things and have made yourself tired. It would be sensible if you would go away and give yourself a change and a holiday.

You have never really tried the effect of a change, and you don't know how much you would enjoy it and would benefit from it.

So much for my little lecture! Now I have truly warned you that your little gift is really tiny and you can prove it with your own eyes and if they weep the gift should be immediately and freely used.

Well darling I wish you a Very Merry Christmas and every Happiness for the New Year
