GOLDEN WEDDING RECEPTION HELD

50th Anniversary Observed by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pelham Winslow

Members of the family and a few friends attended the golden wedding reception held by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pelham Winslow, Pine avenue west, on Tuesday. Among those present were some former associates of Mr. Winslow in the Bank of Montreal. Messages of congratulation were received from England and parts of Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Winslow were married in Christ Church Cathedral in 1884, Mrs. Winslow being Miss Alice Spragge, daughter of William Spragge, deputy superintendent-general of the Indian Department, and his wife, Martha Molson.

Mr. Winslow, who was born in Woodstock, New Brunswick, is of American Colonial descent. His forebears came to Nova Scotia in 1783 being among the United Empire Loyalists. He is a direct descendant of Edward Winslow, the Mayflower Pilgrim who was the first elected governor of the Plymouth Colony. Mr. Winslow's great-grandfather was an ardent supporter of the movement which resulted in the establishment of New Brunswick as a separate province.

For 48 years Mr. Winslow was in the service of the Bank of Montreal, which he describes as his "second father and mother." He came to Montreal from the Maritime Provinces in 1879 and remained in this city until 1888, when he was transferred to Saint John as accountant of the bank there, spending four years in that appointment. He was then promoted to the accountancy of the bank in Toronto, and after two years, was promoted to the managership of the bank in Almonte. After a stay of three years, Mr. Winslow was promoted to the managership of the bank at Stratford, Ont., and lived there for nine years. At the expiration of that time he received a further promotion to an inspectorship with headquarters in Montreal. He remained here for five years, after which he became superintendent for the Western Provinces, with headquarters at Winnipeg, serving for eleven years until his retirement in 1922. Some time was then spent in travel by Mr. and Mrs. Winslow, after which they returned to Montreal where they have lived since, except for a year in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Winslow have four sons and a daughter: Edward Winslow-Spragge, Montreal; Mrs. A. Fortescue Duguid, of Ottawa; Hugh Pelham Winslow, for many years in New York and now of Kingston, Ont.; Kenelm Molson Winslow, of Toronto, and Terence Hansard Winslow, of Montreal. There are thirteen grandchildren. The eldest granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winslow came of age on their golden wedding anniversary. The four sons and their wives, the daughter and her husband, Col. Duguid, and the thirteen grandchildren were present at the reception.

Dear Fraser,

I am happy to hear from you that your health is improving. A message of congratulation under your own hand from Elsie + you was highly appreciated by us - a thousand thanks. It would have added to our happiness + to my satisfaction if you could both have been with us. The gathering at our house on the afternoon of the 22nd was large & would have been larger if our house had had expanding walls. There was some account of it in the Gazette of Wednesday last. A Golden Wedding is rare, our sons & daughter thought we should celebrate it. we have no other excuse. Thirteen grand children with their parents were present with the exception of the mother of one grandson, our lamented Naomi. Not a few relations on both sides including my sisters Edith & Constance & Edith's fine son Frank. My Mother's family was represented by Hayen Hansard & his charming young wife. A few former Bank associates, among them Bog &

Jackson Dodds & two others whose names are recorded with 23 others as contributors to a wedding present 50 years ago. Five only of the 25 contributors are only alive, one living in England. A few friends besides. Before the guests arrived Lois prepared a surprise. As we waited a little face appeared at the door of the room & there filed in 12 more, all graduated, from the youngest & smallest to the tallest, 6 feet.

The little leader ^[Libbie Duquia] carried in her arms a silver gilt bowl inscribed to Mother & Father from Children & Grandchildren.

They formed in two circles one inside the other & sang 'hail, hail the Gangs all here' & then sat down on the floor.

Edward filled the bowl with Champagne & it became a loving cup, the little ones bravely taking a sip, their elders needing no courage. In the evening Edward & Lois had a dinner party: 30 sat-down. After dinner another surprise. A larger & a smaller chair were prepared as thrones for the King & Queen who after being crowned were presented with gifts by the children, each reciting a verse. A Horn of Plenty over head was broken open & confetti dropped on their Majesties.

Our best love to you both & may God give me again the happiness of seeing you both in our dearly loved native province.

Your affect. cousin
J. P. Wislow.

Favored Cup Candidates Behind The Eight Ball

C.L.T.A. Has Tangle to Unwind— Bidders Trumped—Hall Hustles

By MYRTLE A. COOK

CANADIAN Lawn Tennis Association officials might well raise their august eyebrows at the goings-on in their major tournaments.

Out of the skies, clear as crystal, pop a few unheralded Davis Cup team candidates who are seriously ruffling the equilibrium of favored sons for the Cuban capers. Or, if we must stick to formality, the Canada vs. Cuba Davis Cup round at Havana.

Hot on the blistering heels of Roger Durivage's, Roland Longtin's downfall in the recent Northmount tournament, came the sudden demise of Lewis Duff's Ontario defence of Durivage, Longtin and McDiarmid keep him company in the Dominion spectators' stand at Windsor.

Toronto's Bruce Hall and Bill Pigott stroked merrily along, bowling them over like trees in a typhoon with Montreal's Dr. George Leclerc, in constant attendance. Then, out they went yesterday.

There is nothing like a good flying start on any Cup hunt. Durivage, Duff and Longtin appear to have missed the first boat. It will take plenty of hard labor to get back into the front line and only the Quebec tournament in which to show what brilliant wares they really have in their racket satchels.

Rumbles from the Canadian tournament salient indicate dissatisfaction among the home boys. Permitting two Americans to get into the title struggle after it had been under way several days and some of the Canucks were a bit winded, has opened up a new debate. It was climaxed Wednesday when Lewis Duff was required to play a match after first being told he had a "day off."

It would seem some of the Cup candidates were not in the best mood to give their strong arms proper support from the head.

REMEMBER McNEILL

Observers who have been viewing our team favorites being knocked off their pedestals glanced with more than passing interest at the feat of Don McNeill in the French championships last week. When he beat Bobby Riggs, number one man of the 1939 U.S. Davis Cup team, he caused the brows of his U.S.L.T.A. moguls to draw together.

McNeill waded through an International field at the Seigneurie Club last summer and emerged singles winner over Hal Surface at 3-6, 6-1, 6-3. Several of our Canadian players have taken Surface's measure. McNeill also took the Seigneurie doubles honors with Surface. They ran into Lewis Duff and George Toley in the semi-finals and won 7-5, 6-2.

Quebec championships, the stretch lap, is just around the corner, and with the field practically an All-Canadian, the C.L.T.A. onlookers will have the first real opportunity of judging their candidates one against the other without having a dash of U.S.A. talent bobbing up here and there to upset calculations.

The title tournament opens Saturday of this week on the spacious Monkland Club courts on Royal Avenue. By the time candidates Durivage, Duff, Leclerc, Longtin et al reach home, they should be warmed up in more ways than one for the last round-up. With Laird Watt at this end waiting for a shot at the crown but not tooting any team candidature flag, the set-up is a perfect natural. Custer's last stand will have nothing on the boys' barrage.

REACH FOR ASPIRIN

It would not surprise the onlookers if when the smoke of the Ontario, the Canadian, and Quebec tournaments have died down, the C.L.T.A. will view the results with a mixture of aspirin and 222's, for the tournament winners are likely to be spiced with variety as to names.

So for some of the favored
