My dear Clare,

I was in St. Andrews when I saw the notice of your mother's death, and I did not write to you because I had written so recently. I am glad that she was spared a long period of suffering.
You will miss her more than anyone because you always did so much for her, and you have my heart-felt sympathy in your great loss.

I hope that your mother's affairs are in such shape as to free you from any financial anxiety now or in the future. The Carnegie pension, as you know, ceases with her death. I have kept back the last payment made by the Foundation, and now send you a cheque for it made payable to yourself. It may be useful to you in this shape.

If you are embarrassed at all for want of ready money I hope you will regard me as an adopted uncle or something of that sort: I have plenty to spare just now.

Yours sincerely
W. Vaughan
